

From: Maximillion Wexler
To: FOMC-Regs-Comments
Subject: Part 271 Rules Regarding Availability of Information
Date: Thursday, October 15, 2020 10:02:50 PM

NONCONFIDENTIAL // EXTERNAL

I object to the Federal Reserve Bank not providing information to the public as requested. After revising the Fed's own FOIA rules earlier this year, the Fed is now rewriting the FOIA rules for the Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC). That just happens to be the entity in charge of sluicing that 9 trillion dollars to trading houses on Wall Street from September 17, 2019 through March of this year. The Fed has yet to release one detail about what specific trading houses got the money and how much each got.

Max Wexler

This e-mail and any attachments thereto, is intended only for the use of the addressee(s) named herein and may contain LEGALLY PRIVILEGED and/or CONFIDENTIAL information. If you are not the intended recipient of this e-mail, you are hereby notified that any dissemination, distribution or copying of this e-mail, and any attachments thereto, is STRICTLY PROHIBITED.